DAFFODILS WITH GOLD OR YELLOW TRUMPETS AND PETALS

Since 1932 when we first introduced "Roeding's Quality" Spring flowering bulbs to California gardens, each year has seen a deserved increase in their popularity.

Of course, consistent popularity is not an accident. For one thing, no other plants yield so much beauty for so little expense and labor. For another, "Roeding's Quality" bulbs assure certainty of success, quick results, a long blooming season, and endless opportunity for spectacular color effects. Our 1945 bulb stock again represents the cream of the Northwest crop.

Favorites in the bulb garden are these large-flowered gold and yellow trumpet daffodils. Add spring elegance to your garden and select for long-season bloom. Numerals (1) to (5) indicate relative blooming period.

When victory is won, we look forward to re-establishing the Annual Outdoor Spring Bulb shows with their attendant festivities in the manner of early California. In the meantime we are maintaining a representative bulb display in our Show Gardens each year from mid-March through mid-April, followed by our summer and fall display of roses.

How to SUCCEED with ANEMONES and RANUNCULUS

Rainy winters impress the necessity for good drainage in beds planted to anemones and ranunculus. They will not grow in soil saturated from heavy rainfall, but will reward us with countless flowers if we are careful in planting. Raise the soil level in beds devoted to these flowers so that when planted the bulbs will be above the surface level of surrounding terrain. Soak bulbs for one hour before planting; plant October-December at depth of 2 to 3 inches, with small "prongs' down. Be sure to keep the soil moist until rains begin. Bulbs will not grow if the soil drys out before foliage appears.

FREESIAS, TRITONIAS, BABIANAS SPARAXIS AND BABY GLADIOLUS: Plant as early as bulbs can be obtained, in light, well-drained soil in full sun. Keep soil moderately moist. Bulbs may be left in soil or dug each year after foliage ripens.

TRITONIA

PINK PRINCESS. Beautiful clear pink.

PLANT "ROEDING'S QUALITY" NORTHWEST-GROWN TULIPS

LOUIS XIV

WM. PITT

80th Year

Thanks to the efforts of our Northwest bulb grower, we can offer a choice assortment of tulips for California gardeners, increasing in quality and range of color each year. Only "top size" blubs are reserved for our customers—the pick of the crop.

Success in tulip growing in California is dependent on three factors: time of planting, depth of planting, and quality of the bulbs planted.

From October to December is the best time for planting tulips, although planting may be done up to the early part of January. If planting is done late in the winter, it is best to plant where the tulips will receive partial shade, as too much sun may cause the late-planted tulips to open too soon, which will result in short-stemmed flowers of inferior size.

Plant tulip bulbs 6 inches deep in sandy soil and 5 inches deep in heavy soil; that is, the top of the bulbs should be covered with that depth of soil. Place a handful of sand under each bulb and water thoroughly after planting. Tulips do best when the soil is cool and moist. Do not mix any fresh manure or chemical fertilizer in the soil where it will come in contact with the bulbs. If the soil is of poor quality, dig in some well-rotted cow manure several weeks in advance of planting.

The quality of the flowers your tulips produce will depend more on the size and vigor of the bulbs you plant than on any other one thing. When you consider the time and labor that you put into growing your tulips, it is wisest to plant only the best grade of bulbs..

For mass plantings, tulips may be planted as close as 4 inches apart, though 6 inches is better. Groups of six or more of a variety will be found more effective than an indiscriminate mixture.

The long-stemmed, single tulips which succeed best in California are divided into three classes: Darwins, Breeders and Cottage. As all of these bloom at approximately the same time in California, they may be planted together to obtain desirable color combinations. Practically all of the clear yellows and most of the white and light pinks are found in the Cottage Tulips. Darwins produce the best clear reds and also the larger part of the lavender, mauve and pinks. Among the Breeders are found the rich shades of bronze, violet and mahogany-reds, usually with copper or gold tints. Some of the largest and tallest varieties are found in the Breeder class.

They may be left in the ground or lifted each year when ripe.

METHODS OF SHIPPING

In general, the best method of shipping the several types of nursery stock are as follows:

PARCEL POST: All orders for Bulbs, Bush and Climbing Roses, Berry and Vegetable Plants, Grapevines and orders for six or less Fruit Trees (which may include some or all of the preceding items).

EXPRESS: All orders for Fruit Trees (exceeding six trees) and Ornamental Plants weighing less than 50 pounds. Please do not ask us to send unpruned fruit trees, deciduous ornamentals exceeding 3-4 feet, ornamentals balled and burlapped or container-grown plants by parcel post even though delivery by mail is your only "door-to-door" service. Give us the name of your nearest express, freight or truck-line delivery depot and we will see that you are notified when your shipment reaches destination.

FREIGHT, MOTOR TRANSPORT OR TRUCK-LINE: All orders exceeding 50 pounds in weight (including heavy ornamentals, standard roses and citrus trees), we will route the quickest most economical way. If you have truck-line service to your door but do not live in a locality served by P. M. T., please give us the name of your delivering carrier. Both P. M. T. and Valley Express pick up shipments at our loading dock daily during the shipping season.

NOTE: All methods of transportation are taxed to the limit in wartime. We try to anticipate reasonable delays when packing, but please advise us promptly if your shipment arrives damaged or dry.
